- Any other associates of Tactical Legal

As of this date, the affiliated Legal Firm, 'Tactical Legal', shall no longer be associated with Imageworks. Servers who are currently affiliated with the affected parties should distance themselves from the founding and associated members.

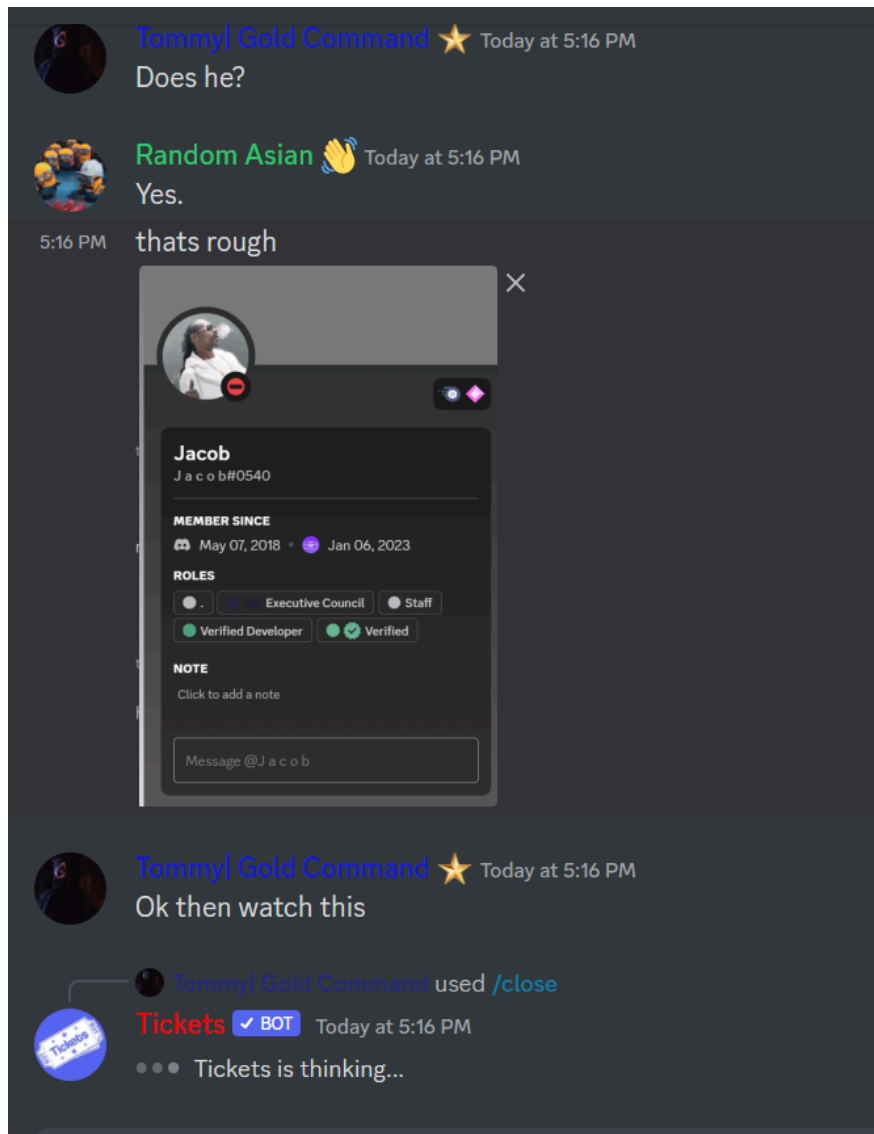

Section 1 - Background

Originally the management of "Bankstown, NSW", had approached the affected legal firm to attempt an immediate blacklist on "ADF#6757" due to allegations. Said allegations initially involved the primary accusation of the theft and redistribution of Group-Owned Assets without permit or permission from the founding establishment of the affected party. TommyTactical and the Law Firm to which he is affiliated made judgment to ignore the complaint from the plaintiff(s) and showed favor to ADF. Tommy eventually proceeded to dismiss the case, despite the abundance of evidence. As per the reasons listed, it provides adequate information for a reasonable individual to claim prejudice or favoritism.

The previous accusation would be further reinforced by the removal of a community-based blacklist of "Shxrk#7030" after he had leaked a multiplicity of assets. Despite the title of a "professional law firm", Tactical Legal has consistently displayed several instances of malpractice, misconduct, and blatant favoritism.

In addition to the favoritism, and acts of prejudice in regards to 'Bankstown, NSW' - but they have displayed their ill capabilities in the hiring and facilitating of individuals who maintain ulterior motives. This is presented by the hiring of "Iz_zy#8814" (Currently Sleathy#6100) had been noticed, and previously known for the utilization of previously stolen and leaked assets from various sources such as the previously listed; 'Bankstown, NSW', Imageworks, and in addition - Brisbane Productions. Despite this, and the possession of stolen assets - Tactical Legal had still performed the hiring and the facilitating of employment of said individual.

Section 2 - Evidence

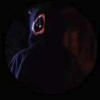

The Image above displays the Director terminating a ticket of an individual to which he dislikes as a Superior. This action was done in response to an accusation from Imageworks Staff who were making a report of misconduct. The closing was done as an action to dissuade and hide potential malpractice. (Ticket 77)

A document stating that the group Tactical Legal has partnered with and represents is blacklisted from a majority of big groups and has a background of attempting to raid/nuke servers. As expected, Havock sells assets which are directly ripped from games such as forza, gta and modding sites such as gamemodels.ru which not only contain leaked assets but are also gamerrips. Owning and using these assets can get you in a lot of legal troubles since Havock isn't licensed to sell these assets, and normal consumers aren't licensed to use these assets outside of the intended game it was made for. In conclusion, this is further evidence of corruption within Tactical Legal, they defend individuals that are a security risk to development companies.

This user allegedly “quit roblox and discord” due to the fact of him being exposed as a leaker, now that Tactical Legal got blacklisted by Imageworks, Tactical Legal removed his titles of being a leaker and decided to hire him back, all of a sudden this user isn’t quitting roblox and discord anymore.

Proof that izzy's (Blixmate) blacklist got removed, and he got his job back.

Tommy has no clue what he's doing so he has to go and start making up random accusations. For your instance, this blacklist IS NOT A BLACKMAIL.
